WHY / problem and value

Identifiers, counts, units, relationships and attribution need source-derived expectations before application behavior changes.

WHAT / change scope

Document exact synthetic Study/Image values, field selection, viewer and download boundaries, review roles, planned assertions and inherited missing-record behavior.

HOW / implementation rationale

Trace unchanged consumers and run their actual formatting bodies with only Astro import seams replaced. Observe absent and malformed routes through the real built Node server. Verify documentation links.

WHERE / affected paths

docs/reference/scientific-preservation.md
docs/reference/routes-and-configuration.md
docs/architecture.md

PRESERVED / existing contracts

Application source, data, assets, APIs, route defaults and deployment retain their bytes. Synthetic values are explicitly invented; review roles are responsibilities to confirm.

RISK / what could go wrong

Missing Study totals can collapse to zero; absent Images currently return 500. These inherited defects are characterized for separate fixes rather than approved as scientific behavior.

LIMITATIONS / what is not proved 90 tooling tests pass. Source checks confirm exact units and relationships. Node observations: absent Study 404, absent Images 500, malformed URI 400. Complete browser journeys, viewer decoding, galleries and Netlify runtime remain unverified.

ROLLBACK / restore and verify

Revert the documentation change in a reported commit; retain original application and observed characterization evidence.

Remote validation at authoring: NOT_RUN. Later CI belongs to the immutable commit's check records, not a follow-up report commit.
